Bisphenol A can be present in quantities extremely lower (<1000 ppm) than levels defined by the European Chemical Regulation REACH and is not intended to be released under normal or reasonably foreseeable conditions of use. Products are therefore compliant and do not require specific information for safe use according to the REACH regulation. Always refer to Socomec manual and general safety instructions available at www.socomec.us in order to avoid generating negative environmental or health impacts.
